

ONLINE PRIVACY AND COOKIE POLICY

1. Scope

This website is operated by Accuride Wheels Bilecik Jant Sanayi A.Ş. (“Company”).

This Online Privacy and Cookie Policy explains how we protect your privacy when you visit this website, what is the "Personal Data" we collect from our website, what kind of information we collect and monitor while viewing our website, how this information is used and with whom it is shared.

“Personal Data” is the information that personally identifies you, alone or in combination with other data. Examples of Personal Data include your name, contact information, job applications, information you provide when creating an account or your personal profile on our website, information about the pages you view and the paths you follow using our website.

2. Legal Grounds for the Use of Your Personal Data

By accessing or using this website, you consent to the collection, use and sharing of your Personal Data set forth in this Online Privacy and Cookie Policy.

IF YOU DO NOT CONSENT TO THE COLLECTION, USE AND SHARING OF YOUR PERSONAL DATA AS SET FORTH IN THIS PRIVACY POLICY, PLEASE EXIT AND DO NOT USE THIS SITE.

WHERE YOU HAVE RIGHTS UNDER RELATED LEGISLATION, YOU CAN RETURN YOUR CONSENT AT ANY TIME BY CONTACTING US. WE WOULD LIKE TO REMEMBER THAT WE CAN COLLECT, USE AND SHARE ALL OR SOME OF YOUR PERSONAL DATA, EVEN WHEN YOU WITHDRAW YOUR CONSENT.

We may collect, use and share your Personal Data when necessary for the performance of the contract with you or for our legitimate interests in working, protecting and developing our business.

3. Personal Data Collected

The Personal Data we collect is Personal Data that you knowingly provide (using your mouse or keyboard) while using our website. The data we collect may vary depending on the purpose of using our website. For example, if you sign up to receive email communications from our Company, we collect your email address and related information you provide. If you use the "Contact Us" feature to contact us, we collect the data you provide in the "Contact Us" form.

In general, our website distinguishes between data we need to provide you with a particular product or service or to fulfill a request (“required fields”), and data that is optional, although useful, about that product, service or request. We would like to remind you that if you do not provide us with the said data by filling in the mandatory fields, we will not be able to provide you with the relevant product or service or fulfill your request.

From time to time, we may supplement the data you provide to us with data we obtain from other sources (for example, information about verifying your address, information about your zip code, or information about your business). We may also supplement the data you give us with data we collect from you through other channels. For example, if you are a customer of our Company, we may supplement the information you provide online with the data you provide in other business contacts you have with our Company. The data we collect includes data that your web browser automatically sends to us. This data usually includes your IP address, the identity of your internet service provider, the name and version of your operating system, the name and version of your browser, the date/time of your visit and the pages you visit. An "IP address" is a unique number that is automatically assigned to your computer when you connect to the Internet. It is used to determine the "location" of your computer in cyberspace so that the information you want can be provided to you. If you are using a dial-up connection or a connection that assigns dynamic IP addresses, a new IP Address is assigned to your computer each time you connect to the Internet. However, if your computer is permanently connected to the Internet with a static IP address, the IP address assigned to your computer will usually be the same every time you use your computer. Even though your IP address does not identify your name, we consider it Personal Data.

When you respond to an electronic communication from us (for example, by opening an email, downloading an image, or clicking a link in an electronic newsletter), your browser informs us about the action you took (or the person using your email address). We use this data to improve our marketing strategy. We also review our server logs, which contain visitors' IP addresses, for security and fraud prevention purposes. If we suspect criminal activity, we will share our server logs and Personal Data we collect from the website with agencies that will investigate and identify the criminals.

A small file sent by the website, stored on the user's computer, and allowing the website to remember information and preferences about the user, is called a cookie. We use "cookies" and other web technologies in a number of ways. For example, we may use these technologies to:

- Collecting information about how visitors use our website (which pages they visit, what links they use and how long they stay on each page);
- To support features and functionality on our website (for example, to save you the trouble of repeatedly entering information in our database or to request settings you have created on previous visits to our website);
- To personalize your experience while using our website, and
- Measuring the success of our web or email ads.

4. Categories of cookies we use

The Cookies we use on our website can be divided into two categories. Cookie “session cookies” that are allocated to your computer during your visit to our website and are automatically removed from your computer when you close your browser.

“Persistent cookies” that expire after a reasonable period of time or when deleted by the user.

Some of these uses may include "third party cookies"; therefore, it is set by software used by third parties to perform operations such as statistical analysis of page usage, page interactions and paths used on the site or to serve internet advertisements using an online advertising supplier. Third-party cookies may collect information about your online activities on different websites you visit over time and after our website.

Generally, information collected using these web technologies does not identify you by name. However, if you have created a user ID (for example, by registering to use a password protected area on one of our websites), we combine information we collect using web technologies with other personally identifiable information.

If you do not want to receive cookies, you can set your browser to refuse cookies or to warn you when a cookie file is requested to be placed on your computer. If you wish, you can delete our cookies as soon as you leave a Site. For more information on how to do this, please review your browser's 'help' section, or for more detailed information please visit <http://www.allaboutcookies.org> or <http://www.aboutcookies.org>.

Although it is not necessary for you to accept our cookies when you visit our website, you cannot benefit from all the features and functions of our website when you set your browser to reject them.

Unless otherwise described in this Online Privacy and Cookie Policy, [we do not currently respond to web browser "do not track" signals or other mechanisms that indicate that you do not prefer to have information about different websites collected over time and after your visit to our website.] If we do so in the future, this Online Privacy and Cookie Policy We'll explain how to do this in the Policy. For more information, please visit www.allaboutdnt.org.

5. Changes to this Privacy Policy
